FREN0500-S02: I think that there was a concerted effort in the French 500 curriculum to teach the language through a variety of mediums and techniques. I think that the use of the French Film Festival as a resource for learning in particular was very effective. Language is intertwined with culture and an understanding of the places and people that use it. While the class didn't stress a perfect french, it truly accomplished meeting this message.
FREN0500-S02: Materials included 2 novels (both contemporary), a graphic novel, and several films. The graphic novel was applicable to the unit on the French school system but was a little bizarre... I would suggest another graphic novel such as Persepolis which is more well known and can stimulate more interesting discussion. There could be fewer movies and perhaps some shorter television programs instead. Overall, I enjoyed the materials and how they introduced conversational French, but at least one work of literature would have been beneficial.
FREN0500-S02: Organised well, materials were effective
FREN0500-S02: Daily grammar exercises, readings, films, daily class and group discussion

FREN0500-S02: Great! Loved the opportunity to go to French festival.
FREN0500-S02: The materials were very engaging and very informative, and helped to improve areas of reading, writing, culture and context, and more. The activities were interesting and brought a variety in their type and the topics they addressed. They were challenging, but always beneficial and made one feel they were learning from them.
FREN0500-S02: It was focused on the writing and speaking of French as the name states, and the goal was clearly achieved throughout various course stuff from music to novel to movie.
FREN0500-S02: The organization of the course was very appropriate. However, I felt that class activities were a bit dull and did not engage the students to their full potential. I like the materials: appropriate amount of grammar learning but majority of time on watching films and reading novels and poems.
FREN0500-S02: I thought the course was very well organized, and liked how we explored a variety of themes throughout the semester. I especially enjoyed the film and education units.

Question Number 4: What knowledge or skills did this course help you develop? Please comment on your own learning and intellectual growth.

FREN0500-S02: This course increased my speaking, reading, writing, and listening capabilities in the French language. The language comes more naturally now than it ever has and I attribute that to the engaging discussions in class and the conversation sections. I have learned a great deal about metropolitan French culture and society.

FREN0500-S02: I think that this class would have benefitted from a little bit more discipline and one on one conversational french. But other than that it was perfect!
FREN0500-S02: I would have liked to see more coverage of other francophone nations and their cultures outside of metropolitan France such as Morocco, Quebec, Belgium, etc. Monsieur Ibrahim was a great unit that touched on different world religions and there could be more materials like this. Conversation sections weren't as useful as I would like them to be. Pairing each student with a native French speaker would be ideal, although I recognize the difficulty of this.
FREN0500-S02: The course content was varied which kept it interesting throughout the semester. The final novel we read was a great choice. The first few weeks of the class could be redesigned to be more interesting. I found the topics and discussions of poems and songs to be a bit boring.
FREN0500-S02: The professor really cares about the student's development.

FREN0500-S02: Sieffert, Anne-Caroline: The teacher made the class. Anne-Caroline was the most approachable and dedicated french teacher I've had in my six years learning French. She is a natural teacher and lecturer, she should teach a class on French culture/history. Bravo!
FREN0500-S02: Sieffert, Anne-Caroline: Great instructor, very engaging, knowledgeable, and always tries to encourage discussion. There were some tangents into French culture and society but they were always informative and appreciated! A little more organizational clarity would be nice in terms of assignments due dates/times, hours for exams, etc.
FREN0500-S02: Sieffert, Anne-Caroline: Anne-Caroline is a great professor
FREN0500-S02: Sieffert, Anne-Caroline: Anne-Caroline does an extraordinary job of instructing. She is extremely knowledgeable on each topic she teaches, and is able to challenge her students, while also providing a comfortable and encouraging environment to succeed in the challenges. She goes above and beyond in giving time and feedback, and is always willing to help to the best of her ability. She displays patience and intuition to the needs of each student. She successfully makes the class challenging, enjoyable, and very interesting. She addresses the material and demonstrates a great deal of knowledge concerning each subject she teaches, she also can facilitate incorporating extra information that is both relevant and interesting, into the class while also fully addressing the ascribed course materials. Her teaching styles is clear, informative, and encourages students to engage in discussion. Her methods and conduction of the course have allowed me to greatly improve in French, and she has been incredibly supportive and available for the needs I had in the class. The class and instructor are excellent.
FREN0500-S02: Sieffert, Anne-Caroline: I liked that towards the end of the semester she gave all students equal opportunity to speak in class, because in the beginning only a few students were speaking in class, and not everyone had an opportunity to speak. I liked it that she would ask me to give my opinion even when I wasn't always ready to share it in a foreign language.
FREN0500-S02: Sieffert, Anne-Caroline: I am so grateful that Anne-Caroline was my teacher. She always took the time to meet with me outside of class, and I knew that when I worked for hours on a composition she would write her comments and suggestions with the same amount of effort.
